FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

USD ANNOUNCES 1980 "OUTSTANDING TEACHERS"

Three members of the University of San Diego faculty have been selected "Outstanding Teachers" for 1980, the University has announced.

Selected are Dr. DeForest Strunk, Professor of Education and Director of Special Education; Sister Alicia Sarre, Professor and Chairperson of the Department of Foreign Languages; and Dr. Dennis Clausen, Associate Professor of English.

Dr. Strunk has been at USD since 1970. He received his B.A., M.Ed. and Ed.D. from the University of Virginia.

Sister Sarre has been with USD since 1966. She received her B.A. from Barat College, her M.A. from Marquette University, and her Ph.D. from Stanford University.

Dr. Clausen has been with USD since 1972. He received his B.A. from the University of Minnesota, Morris, his M.A. from the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, and his Ph.D. from the University of California, Riverside.

The three "Outstanding Teachers" were chosen from a group of 12 nominees submitted by the various USD colleges and schools. The nominees were then screened by an eight-member committee of the USD University Senate.

Each award carries with it an amount of $500, which the award winner may designate at his or her discretion for any appropriate university use.
